

Introduction to the QEnergySpa

With the QEnergySpa you can experience bio-energy levels similar to that enjoyed at world famous mineral springs such as Lourdes in France and Baden-Baden in Germany. Throughout history, people have been drawn to these naturally occurring highly energized mineral springs for their rejuvenating and healing effects in the hope of assisting their recovery.

The QEnergySpa can be enjoyed in the comfort of your own home with a hand, foot or full body bath.

The innovative QEnergySpa was conceived and developed in 1996, to recreate these same revitalizing energies in ordinary tap water in a way that nature has done since the beginning of time.

Manufactured in Australia, the QEnergySpa is unlike any technology available on the market today, owing not only to the quantum science it is based upon but also to the highly specific design of the water module and the manufacturer specified electronically matched circuitry within the power supply.

The QEnergySpa is the ultimate revolution in natural bio-energy re-vitalisation for your body, capable of assisting the body to function at its full capacity and provide you with more energy to effectively cope with today's stresses.

With higher energy levels your body is capable of significantly reducing recovery time and allow you to better control and manage aches and pains. The QEnergySpa is a powerful bio-energy supplement for your body assisting your body where ever required.

A growing number of natural and main stream health therapists throughout the world including general practitioners, naturopaths, bowen therapists, chiropractors and kinesiologists among many others are now using the QEnergySpa, and exponentially growing their practice due to the amazing results achieved by incorporating the QEnergySpa.

Using the QEnergySpa is simple and you do not need to be a professional to operate the device, be it for use in your own home or in a professional clinic. This method does not involve any medications and it is safe and non-invasive, it can even be used on your pets, fruits and vegetables.

The QEnergySpa is based on the principle that all living matter contains a "bio-charge" or bio-energy. This energy is what enables all the systems of the body to operate. The efficiency of operation of these systems within our bodies is determined by the energy level of our body. When the body has a high energy level, all the body's systems will operate efficiently as a collective whole, allowing the body to regenerate at its peak. However, much like a battery, our energy levels do not stay at a fixed level. The lifestyles we lead and the toxins we breathe and ingest means that many of us are prematurely depleting our body's natural resources, increasing the likelihood of falling prey to various exposures.

The QEnergySpa was created to re-balance and amplify the bio-electric signature of your body and is the only available Bio-Energy device capable of creating the necessary complex field interactions within the water. With continued use, each cycle of sessions with the QEnergySpa increases the amount of available bio-energy gradually increasing the body's energy reservoir.

Water makes up the largest portion of the human body mass and it is the primary constituent of all life. Thousands of people around the world testify to the QEnergySpa's numerous benefits and research conclusively back up their claims. As the water becomes 'one' with us, it takes on our unique energetic resonance signature as a template. This incredible phenomenon is due to the Quantum Field created by the of the water module and is exclusive to the QEnergySpa.

To use the QEnergySpa, simply submerge the Orb in a container of water, connect the electrically safe, extra low voltage power supply and place the selected body part into the water. Turn the QEnergySpa on for a maximum of 35 minutes, every second day for the first cycle of 14 sessions, followed by a short rest period of 21 days (this may vary). Repeat this process for 10 cycles for maximum benefit.

Even if you live a healthy lifestyle or have chosen other therapies available on the market today, this system can still of benefit to you. The QEnergySpa works well with and supplements all other modalities. The healthiest and active sports person can still get that little extra stamina and endurance and as a bonus; a speedy recovery.

Now, that is ... Energy for life.

The many uses of the QEnergySpa

The QEnergySpa is a Bio-Electric Field Enhancement, BEFE device with a purpose of enhancing the bio-charge in water, increasing the bio-energy level within the water. As all living organisms are based upon water, that means that this technology will work on all organic matter and by that we mean everything from human to all plants and animals.

Water Molecules

The BEFE technology is in a class of its own, there are no other water based technologies which even comes close to performing these life enhancing benefits. All other footbath detox devices currently sold around the world are not based upon the true BEFE technology and have been shown through seed trials to damage the seed and as mentioned above this technology is supposed to work on all water based organisms and if anyone fails, then the use of such on any other organic matter must be re-examined. The science behind the BEFE technology is quite simply not understood sufficiently to allow anyone, other than Q the Experience to correctly duplicate it, let alone advance it.

Original technology

Lets proceed with a breakdown of some of the less known applications of the QEnergySpa.

Since 1996, the majority of the QEnergySpas sold around the world have been used for human health related purposes only. The following list of additional applications are slowly emerging and as they do, people are finding that these well kept secrets can benefit us all in many more ways.

The QEnergySpa applications...

1. Bio-Energy submersion and absorption.
2. Drinking water.
3. Fruits and vegetables.
4. Seed treatment for improved germination.
5. Plant growth and plant health.
6. Pets and other animals.

1. Bio-Energy submersion and absorption

This one we all know about. A method of energising your whole family. You fill a container or your bathtub with water and put in the QEnergySpa water module, then turn it on and get in for a period of 35 minutes maximum. Use only once every second day to give your body time to process and adjust to the higher bio-energy level.

This process is much the same as charging your car battery, in that the charge equalises between every adjacent cells in your body like a domino effect throughout your body.

We have also found that the Use in your Bathtub container you use have an effect on the results. For example, if you were to use an untreated Copper container, then the inventor of the Q has indicated that the technology could be up to 20% more efficient.

Simple Hand Bath

In the document "The QEnergySpa Charging Cycles" we will further expand on the possibility of achieving more or a higher degree of benefits from regular use of the QEnergySpa. But one thing that we would like to re-iterate here is that if you sustain an injury, the sooner you can get the injured body part into the water with the QEnergySpa the better the results and the faster it will happen. This is related to the "Herrings Laws of Cure", which we will cover later. If the injured part is an open wound, then to minimise bacterial infection, insert other limb.

2. Drinking water

It is not commonly known that you can energise a glass bottle of clean water the same way that you energise the person except for only 15-20 minutes and you can even do this in your kitchen sink. Drink one glass a day within a few minutes. In other words, do not sip the glass of water all day, drink it all straight away.

After energising the bottle of water, the energy in the bottle should last for up to 92 hours after which it will be almost back to normal. However, we recommend that you empty the bottle and energise a new batch every second day for maximum benefit. You can also drink a glass of energised water every day as well as having a QEnergySpa session every second day. You could for example drink a glass of energised water in the morning or before lunch and then have your QEnergySpa session in the evening.

We recommend that you use a glass bottle, but a standard plastic bottle will work.

The many uses of the QEnergySpa

3. Fruits and vegetables

If you were to energise your fruits and vegetables before you ate them, you would bring the energy content of the fruit or vegetable back to its full potential plus the fact that your body would digest a produce with a much higher energetic value. Just imagine the additional potential benefits you could achieve. The above vegetables shows just how the shelf life has been extended by energising the one on the right and the number of days that the shelf life has been extended listed next to it.

It is absolutely amazing to see how the moisture is maintained by the vegetables for a prolonged period of time and maybe if we were to re-charge the vegetables every second day, we may be able to further extend the life span/shelf life of the vegetable. A lot more trials could be conducted here to establish a Green Grocer shelf life extension program to save a lot of wastage and improve the consumption value.

4. Seed treatment for improved germination

We learned from the above trials that using the QEnergySpa can extend the shelf life of vegetables and it will also do this for most fruits, but what if we were to energise the seed of the vegetables before we planted it. According to the Inventor, this could potentially provide up to 30% better chance of germination.

A: Control Untreated
B: Charged Seed, Uncharged Water
C: Uncharged Seed, Charged Water
D: Charged Seed, Charged Water

The above trial uses pumpkin seeds to show the effects of such energising. At the end of the trial we cooked up the pumpkins for a taste test and the blind test showed the charged seed, watered with charged water to be the preferred flavour. But if you noticed, the charged seed, watered with uncharged water, appear to be the largest pumpkin. However in all these test, more samples are required in each group to eliminate other factors.

Another example, charging the seeds of Kikuyu grass, showing considerable improvement in germination. Both of these trays have the same number of seeds planted.

Uncharged Seeds

Charged Kikuyu Seeds

Charging the seeds of sweet corn, you can clearly see just how well the top section of plants look compared to the section at the bottom.

Sweet Corn

Well worth more trials with a view to incorporate the Q on farms for increased profits.

5. Plant growth and health

All the seed trials conducted have shown remarkable improvements in both health of the plants as well as faster growth and during a trial on a green house cucumber farm where we watered a few rows with charged water, we not only noted an improvement in health, growth and endurance of the plants, for example the fact that the charged plants did not suffer from tip burns from the sun, where every other plant in the green house did. The entire green house also suffered from a fungus, but the charged plants were not concerned about it and kept thriving. The angle on the lateral stems on the charged plants also had on average a great incline supporting the leaves making it appear stronger and healthier, inter-node spacing reduced, giving 20% more nodes, less fruit abortions and an interesting note on the plant growth. All the charged plants appeared to lag behind the remaining greenhouse in the beginning, but then over shooting the growth of the entire green house.

The many uses of the QEnergySpa

Lebanese Cucumbers

Overall we found an increased number of cucumbers per plant from 37 to 84%, on average 57% more, this number comes from both more cucumbers but also from less rejections (referred to as abortions). If extrapolated to an entire farm this extra potential produce could mean an extra income of in excess of $110,000 profits per season with very little extra effort and compared to the cost of and running costs of the QEnergySpa, a spectacular profit margin.

6. Pets and other animals

Energising your pets or farm animals is yet another area of use for the QEnergySpa.

Animals seem to be able to sense the energy in the water. In Africa, the buffalos left their watering hole to come drink from a drum of Q energised water and during a lettuce trial in Australia, the birds preferred our trays of energised water to the ordinary tap water.

It is probably a little harder to keep your pet in the water, although some pets seem fascinated with the Q, in that they want to lie on top of or next to you or the container during a session, but in most cases it may be easier to treat the drinking water and making sure that your charged water is the only water available to the pet.

African Buffalo

The dog shown here was simply drinking charged water which slowly improved its condition.

As for horses, we found that they seem to enjoy both the treatment and the company and every time the car came down the driveway, they would run up to meet it and on one occasion it was the wrong the car and watching the horses disappointedly walk back to the field was amazing. As for treating the horses, they will happily stand there, so all you have to make sure is that the horse does not step on the water module.

A very weak duckling, not believed to be able to survive was treated by the QEnergySpa, which gave it a new zest of life.

When you give Q sessions to animals and for that matter, people as well, it does not matter if you can only get one paw into the water, it will still benefit the animal or person, just take care if you are treating a cat, you may get more than you bargain for. They do not like water.

Is there more to it?...

You are limited only by your imagination as what you can energise. In any case we recommend that you cautiously try little samples first before applying to entire farms, because if the process has or uses synthetic material say in the soil, like growing lettuce in polystyrene, then keep in mind that the electrical signature of all the materials in the brew will be energised along with it and will be incorporated in the final outcome.

As a last suggestion, you can even energise your favourite bottle of wine to potentially unlock additional flavours while at the same time enhance the wine.

The QEnergySpa can energise up to 10,000 litres. Should you wish to run a trial a little larger than that, then we do have a new technology that may be able to treat up to 250,000 Litres.

Wishing you good trials...